

Individual Reflection – Thea

I would like to learn more about the programming process and building qualitative code. From our earlier courses I have learnt a little about many things, but I find it difficult to apply this and develop a software from scratch. I think we all, including myself, contribute with creative thoughts and initiatives when it comes to both tasks affecting the sprints and administrative tasks such as keeping track of scheduled assignments and deliveries. Next sprint I think we should have clearer roles and better communication about what each person is doing. Through more communication I can help my team with this.
