

I want to learn more about programming and how to develop software. I think I have basic knowledge and know the theory about programming but not that much how to apply it in practice and especially in a big software. I am also interested in learning more about the agile process and the agile work. My contribution this week has like the others been contributing with ideas how we should make a plan for the project. Also helped with developing the UML-diagram and the deliveries like the team reflection. Next week I think we should have clearer roles to make the work more effective.
