

I want to learn even more about programming and more about agile teams and workflow. My contribution this week has been developing code for losing a life when catching an endangered fish and implementing functions for question fish together with Fanny and Maja. We all planned our sprint. I also helped with the team reflection and trello board. I think we have really good teamwork!