

This week was the first full week and has been completed very successful in my opinion. Me and Vendela have mainly worked on the graphics for the game during sprint 2.

For the next sprint I hope to be more involved in writing code, preferably back-end, to get some insight into the complexity of the game and challenges we face. I also want to continue to contribute with producing graphics, since I enjoy doing it.

Through rearrangement of the internal roles (formal and informal) I hope to contribute to the development of the code for our games through the next sprint.
