

This week was our last full sprint, since next week is only four days. We used this week to finalize most parts of our game and tie it all together. As I said in the last reflection my plan was to ask for help on a feature that I have had problems with finalizing. Fanny helped me and solved it rather quickly. So I definitely learned to ask for help sooner and utilize the knowledge we have in the group instead of spending a lot of time on it by myself.

Furthermore, me, Fanny and Vendela worked together to do the last touches on our question fishes.

The next sprint we plan to tend to small details in our project and start working on our report and pitch/video.
